FRIDAY, MAY 22, 1857.

MEETING OF THE GENERAL COUNCIL.—The sessions of the Board of Aldermen and Common Council last evening were of more than usual importance and interest.

In the Board of Aldermen a resolution was introduced by Alderman Shotwell relative to the right of certain members to their seats. The Mayor's interference was declared gratuitous and the Board declined to consider the matter. This resolution was passed unanimously.

The Mayor returned the resolution renewing the notes of the city for $6,000 to the Water Company, with his objections. The resolution was discussed and passed by the Common Council, with but one dissenting vote. The Board of Aldermen took the same position, unanimously.

The question of electing city printer occurred, and in the Common Council was referred to a special committee, with instructions to report in favor of two printers.

An election for Railroad Tax Collector in the Eastern District was ordered for May 3d.

The ordinance referring to the organization of the Fire Department, with one Chief Engineer and two Assistants, was fixed for consideration at the adjourned meeting to-night.

GOATS AMONG NEWSPAPERS.—A new class of literary thieves have been discovered in the Seventh ward, Philadelphia. It appears that the citizens of that ward have had much cause of complaint on account of their morning papers having been carried off by some unknown predators. The other morning early, the police caught the thieving gentry in the act. A party of long-bearded goats went from door to door, pulling down the fresh sheets from knobs and bell-pulls. Some of the thieves were such literary cormorants that they commenced devouring their plunder in the street. The police gave chase to the rascals, but the latter were too fleet for their pursuers, and, after running a short distance, they would turn about deliberately and impudently face the officers.

Edward Ward, an Alabamian in Charlestown, Mass., has departed for parts unknown. He carried on the lumber business in company with Thomas Greenleaf, under the name of Thomas Greenleaf & Co. Their wharf is located at the Neck on the Mystic river, and he has had the principal care of the business. It is thought that he has taken from $15,000 to $20,000 with him, of money belonging to the firm and others, which will fall heavily on his partner. Before leaving he converted his dwelling house on Main street and other things into cash, leaving nothing which his creditors can get hold of.

A heavy storm accompanied by a destructive tornado swept over the town of Brownsville, Pa., on the night of Thursday the 14th, destroying the extensive glass manufacturing establishment of P. & J. Sweare, and seriously injuring the warehouses of Wm. H. Clark and Robert McKinley. Part of the roof of the Monongahela bridge was blown off. Two dwelling houses were removed from their foundations, carried a considerable distance, and turned topsy-turvy; the inmates escaped with out injury.

The lecture of our talented young friend Sam'l A. Casseday, before the pupils of the High School, at their building on Chestnut street, has been postponed until Saturday night. The subject is "Coral Islands"—a theme with which Mr. C. who is an accomplished geologist, is thoroughly conversant.

An attempt was made Monday night in Cincinnati to drown a young woman because she resisted the advances of a villain. It is dangerous for a man or woman to traverse the streets of that city after dark.

John Clark, who was charged with pushing overboard and causing the death, by drowning, of a deck hand on the W. A. Eaves, has been arrested and brought to New Albany for trial.

"FALLEN TIDE."

BY ELLA FARMAN.

I stood upon the green slope by the sea,
And saw the sunny wild waves swiftly come—
Rejoicing from the realms far miles from me—
Come leaping to the rock as though 'twere home.
I knew those waves had swept o'er pearls and gold—
Their shapes seemed flashing 'mid the jeweled spray,
Till, dreamily, I hoped the wonders bold
Had borne some treasure from its care away.

I waited till the journeying waves had gone,
But found no pearls—not even coral stems—
Only the granite rock stretched bare and lone,
No gayer for those guests who promised glee.

A heart stood on the shore of life's spring land,
A-watching by her eyes of truth and trust,
While from the future's mighty, dim-known land—
That unbreathed hemisphere bequeathed to youth—
There swept up at her feet a flashing tide—
Hope's own broad waves—and 'mid them gravely gleamed.

The ship in which that vent'rous heart might ride
To reach the mystic zone of which she dreamed.

But, when her sandal lightly touched the sea,
The bright wave fell and left her on the beach,
And though still dimly near the barge tossed free,
The tide still fell and bore it out of reach.

And never did it strand upon that shore,
Though still that Heart stood waiting by the brine,
It often neared—the tide fell forevermore—
Alas! to know that luckless Heart was mine!

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

PORTLAND TELEGRAPH LINE.

Office at Portland, Delme's Drug Store, on the wharf.
Office at Shippingport, in the Canal Office.
Office at Louisville, Durrett's Clothing Store, corner Fourth and Water streets.

There were over 7 feet water in the Indiana chute, and between 4 1/2 and 5 feet in the middle chute last evening. The weather is beautiful. All the large boats are up over the falls.

For St. Louis.—The Alvin Adams, Capt. Lamb, is the packet for St. Louis to-day. There is no finer or better boat in the trade than the Adams, and in speed she eclipses all. She starts from the city wharf.

The Statesman, Capt. Sullivan, is the packet for Henderson. She will start from the city wharf.

The Wm. Dickson, which was detained, will leave for the Tennessee river this evening.

The Hickman will leave for the Arkansas river to-day.

The great steamer Jacob Strader, Capt. Summons, is the mailboat for Cincinnati to-day.

The R. J. Ward.—This magnificent steamer is coming up with a crowd of passengers. Capt. Miller telegraphed from Evansville last evening that he will arrive at 11 o'clock this morning, and ordered eighteen staterooms in the ladies' and four in the gentlemen's cabin on the mailboat to be secured for his passengers. The Ward will leave for New Orleans to-morrow evening.

Steamer Arizona Raised.—The accident to the steamer Arizona at Rock Island bridge was not as serious as at first reported. She has been raised, and arrived at St. Louis on Wednesday, where she will be repaired.

Accident.—The steamer Rosalie, from Dunleath for St. Paul, was recently blown ashore on the rocks on the east bank of the Mississippi, just above Reed's Landing, and a hole stove in her starboard side. She managed to work on and reach her destination.

A new hull, built by the Howard's, of Jeffersonville, was launched day before yesterday, and is now lying at the city wharf. It is intended for a packet on the Upper Missouri, for Capt. Porter.

Yesterday evening about 6 o'clock, a drayman fell from his dray just in front of our office, and narrowly escaped being crushed by the wheels. He was very seriously injured.

The Journal of Commerce announces the failure in New York of Mr. Wm. G. Lord, flour and grain commission merchant, of that city.

A silver mine has been discovered in Coosa county, Alabama.

THE CORONER'S INQUEST.—Yesterday afternoon D. Bryan, the Coroner, concluded his investigation in relation to the death of the four negroes on the night of the 14th inst. No new facts were elicited, although a large number of witnesses were examined. Hon. John-Barbee, ex-Mayor, was foreman of the jury that conducted the examination. The following are the verdicts:

Inquests Nos. 31, 33, and 34.—George, slave of H. Samuels, Bill, slave of Pealeton, and Bill, slave of Brown, were strangled with a rope placed around their necks, in the yard of the court-house in Louisville, on the 14th inst, by a number of persons unknown.

No. 32.—Jack, slave of L. Samuels, died by his own hands; that he severed the jugular vein with a razor, within the walls of the jail of Jefferson county, on the night of the 14th inst.

No. 33.—Joseph Roth, aged 20, came to his death from a blow inflicted with a rammer upon his head, fracturing the skull, by the hands of Lewis beal.

DISAPPEARANCE OF KIRBY.—We have refrained from mentioning the various rumors afloat concerning the disappearance of Mr. Joseph Kirby, the well known clerk of the steamer Republic. The following, from the New Albany Ledger, is doubtless authentic:

We have seen a gentleman who was in St. Louis a few days since. He informs us that he had no idea that Mr. Kirby had been murdered, or that he had committed suicide. He saw both Capt. Montgomery and Mr. Kirby, and learned from both that there was a difficulty in the settlement of Mr. K.'s accounts—he being behind, according to Captain M., some $5,500. Captain Montgomery has the fullest confidence in Mr. Kirby's integrity, and believes that he will yet appear and make everything right. Our informant thinks Kirby has concealed himself by advice of counsel, until some arrangement is reached to the matter shall be made.

The Cincinnati Commercial says:

Mr. Samuel Gill, Superintendent of the Louisville and Frankfort and Frankfort and Lexington roads, is among the candidates for "Elijah's Mantle," on the Little Miami road. Mr. Gill is a graduate of West Point, and an accomplished civil engineer. It is thought by the friends of Mr. Gill that the influence Southern and Eastern, which that gentleman could direct, favorable for the Little Miami line, may go far to overcome the disadvantage of being a stranger upon the road.

The Russellville Herald says:

From all accounts, the wheat crop in Logan is very promising. The oats crop does not look so well, but is improving. Tobacco plants are plentiful, except in a few localities, but are unusually small; the prospect for a large and fine crop is anything but flattering.

OUR MANTILLAS, much the most comfortable and durable (and therefore the cheapest) wrapping that lady can possibly use, are to be had of HAYES, CO. & CO., at prices which would justify the purchase in mid-summer.

[For the Louisville Journal.]

Wm. F. Stephenson has been sentenced to the penitentiary for 25 years, for running off negroes in Marshall county, Mississippi.

A NOTORIOUS THIEF.—The Cincinnati Commercial has the following account of Bill Edwards, an infamous character who was recently engaged in several robberies here:

He is now wanted in Louisville, Ky., where it is said he is certain to be convicted. When in the east, the last time, the police drove him out of several cities. His accomplice, Florence Williams, alias Florence Clark, has not been long with him. She is not as she assumed to be, when arrested, an educated woman, as, on the contrary, she can scarcely read, but she has respectable relatives at Harper's Ferry, Va., and at Louisville, Ky. She is petite, has been rather good looking, and has full brown, dark eyes and hair, a sallow complexion, fluency of speech, and plenty of assurance. She left home and went to Baltimore to lead a life of infamy, became the mistress of a thief, drifted about a while, and at Louisville fell in with Edwards, who became her chevalier and bringing her here, took her to his house to reside, while his wife lay in the last stages of consumption. The girl put on the airs of mistress of the place, and was about, with Edwards, to strip the house and decamp, when, fortunately they were arrested.

Since being taken to jail, Edwards has had in his possession several hundred dollars and living high, pays for the best board for his inamorata, while his dying wife would be destitute but for her relations.

The brother of Florence, who is said to be a respectable man, wrote a few days since from Louisville to her, advising her if she knew anything to turn State's evidence, as Edwards was a notorious villain and would even betray her to save himself. This letter was opened by the officers of the jail, before it was delivered. The brother suggested the arrest of the brother on a charge of crime. The circumstances under which Edwards and this girl, dressed in men's apparel, were seen at night prowling about to effect burglaries, and the other circumstances showing their guilt, are already known to our readers. They are now under $2,000 bonds to await trial in June, and, unless previously liberated by straw bail or the important witnesses spirited away, will be almost certainly convicted.

It is said that a notorious dealer in stolen goods, who ran away from this city and is now in Louisville, and other accomplices of Edwards in robberies there, are to be compelled to get him out of the scrape here, or will inform on them, as he can't escape here, and, in peaching others, may shorten his term of imprisonment.

TO REACH the mystic zone of which she dreamed.

The bright wave fell and left her on the beach,

And though still dimly near the barge tossed free,

The tide still fell and bore it out of reach.

The river is still rising slowly, with 7 feet water on the falls over the rocks and over 5 feet in the middle chute. Weather warm and clear.

The Rainbow.—This fleet steamer arrived about 8 o'clock, making the quickest trip of the season. Her time from port to port was only 5 days 13 1/2 hours.
We thank Messrs. Huston for New Orleans papers of the 16th and a copy of the memorandum. The Rainbow had no freight. She returns to New Orleans tomorrow. She has fine accommodations and excellent officers.

The R. J. Ward.—This steamer reached Portland about 12 o'clock. She attempted to come up through the Indian chute but did not succeed. She then tried the middle chute and succeeded. The Ward was crowded with passengers. Her receipts must have been very large. Many of her passengers took passage on the Strader, which had awaited her arrival. Messrs. Smith and Grey, the clerks of the Ward, have our thanks for the usual favors.
The Ward will leave for New Orleans on Monday evening.

EVENING BULLETIN.

CELEBRATION OF THE FRENCH BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.—Yesterday the members of the French Mutual Assistance Society, a benevolent organization of the city, paraded through our streets and proceeded to New Albany, where, with some of their countrymen, they partook of a most elegant repast, such a one indeed as only the cuisine of our gay neighbors of La Belle France can afford. On the route of its march, the procession halted at the Mayor's office to pay the respects of the Society to His Honor Gen. Pilcher. Mr. Tenyon, the President, spoke in excellent terms, and was responded to on behalf of the Mayor in a very handsome manner by Mr. O. H. Stratton, Clerk of the Board of Aldermen:

MR. TENYON'S ADDRESS TO THIS MAYOR.

MR. MAYOR PILCHER: The French Mutual Assistance Society call to pay to you, as Mayor of Louisville, our respects and congratulations. We are Frenchmen by birth. We have adopted the United States for our country, and Louisville for our home. We are a society of fifty members, incorporated by the Legislature of Kentucky in Feb., 1853, for benevolent purposes, from funds contributed voluntarily by ourselves. Our intent is to relieve the wants of our own members in distress, to provide employment for destitute French immigrants, who come to join us in our adopted home, to relieve them in sickness and keep them from becoming a charge on their adopted country and from falling into vice and crime by poverty and want. With these good intentions, and by fidelity to the Constitution and laws of the country, and, especially, by obedience to the laws of the city, we hope to meet your approbation, the good opinion of the people and the protection of the laws. We make our first public parade this day, and go to dine with our brethren in the city of New Albany, and trust that you, the authorities of Louisville, and the citizens, will believe in our good intentions and law-abiding purposes.

MR. STRATTAN'S REPLY.

GENTLEMEN OF THE FRENCH MUTUAL ASSISTANCE SOCIETY: Owing to the Mayor's indisposition, he is necessarily deprived of the pleasure of this interview in person, but he has instructed me to return you his thanks for this friendly call upon him, and to remark that he has personally known some of you for many years. He is happy to testify to your good intentions as men and law-abiding purposes as members of this community. He receives your respects on this occasion not for himself alone but as a tribute to our people, their government and laws, and assures you that our municipal authorities will protect all peaceful and law-abiding people as good citizens. He approves the benevolent intents and praiseworthy objects of your Society, and will commend it to the good opinion of the people, and yourselves, as honest men, to the protection of the constituted authorities of the city. Allow me to wish you a happy jubilee with your kind brethren of New Albany. May your good Society help to enlarge and perpetuate the social understanding already existing between the two sister cities.
